

Expository Experience

Name: ANSWER KEY

Date: Flesch-Kincaid Level = 8.1

Directions
Cut apart all of the gray boxes.
Match the main idea with the correct supporting details. Each picture has three details.
Glue the details under the correct picture.
You will need:

Flesch-Kincaid 8.1

Today's Topic:

Black History Month

Dr. Carter G. Woodson

known as the "Father of Black History" placed African American historical contributions front and center received a doctorate from Harvard University in 1912

Mary McLeod Bethune

opened a school and eventually, the school became a college was the vice president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Persons (NAACP)

an important educator, civil rights leader, and government official

Association for the Study of African American Life and History research and share information about Black life, history, and culture create the annual theme for Black History Month established on September 9, 1915, by Dr. Carter G. Woodson

Teaching Suggestions:

- Complete the sheet as a shared or small group activity (identify each detail for each subtopic using numbers or colors before cutting apart)
- Use the sheet as an essay starter. Add the introduction and conclusion paragraphs to the three subtopic paragraphs.
- Assign students to complete additional research on each subtopic.

Hattie's Effect Size = 0.40 - 0.79

Rigor and Relevance =
LOW to MODERATE/2 to 4